Broadcasting's
decision to force
their stations to
air an anti-Kerry
documentary days
before the election
is a clear example
of the dangers of media consolidation.

I feel that the
free public airwaves
should serve the public interest and
not be partisan.
Local stations
should debate the
issues within their own communities and
not be forced to air
one-sided political propaganda on local stations. We need to strengthen our media ownership
rules to make sure
political agendas
don't effect our
free public
airwaves.
